FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Shreveport man charged with attempted carjacking following police chase

Suspect Marcos Glass

A Shreveport man is in jail after he led police on a chase in north Shreveport this morning.

It all began just before 12:00 pm, on August 8, 2017. Shreveport Police Patrol officers observed a gold Toyota Camry travelling at a very high rate of speed in the downtown Shreveport area. Officers attempted to stop the speeding car but the driver, Marco Glass, 38, of the 1100 block of Wilkinson, refused to stop. Glass travelled down I-49 and exited onto Kings Highway where he struck another vehicle. After crashing, Glass exited his vehicle and attempted to gain entry into a vehicle stopped on Kings Highway. The driver had her car doors locked which prevented entry. After attempts to commandeer the first vehicle were unsuccessful, Glass approached a second car and once again attempted to gain entry. That victim was also able to get their doors locked and prevented the carjacking. Police were able to apprehend Glass shortly after.

Glass was transported to University Health Hospital where he was treated for minor injuries, and then booked into the Shreveport City Jail on two counts of Attempted Carjacking, one count each of flight in a vehicle and resisting an officer, two city warrants, and one fugitive warrant.
