FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Shreveport Police to host “Winter Weather” program for seniors

The Shreveport Police Department’s Community Oriented Policing Bureau is set to host their annual Winter Weather Safety Program next week.

The event will be held at Mamie Hicks Park at 200 Mayfair Drive on November 7, 2017 beginning at 10:00 am. The program was designed to give our seniors important safety tips and resources to help them better endure severe winter storms. The Shreveport Fire Department will give important information on heating units and the dangers of carbon monoxide and fires. A meteorologist with the National Weather Service will give a presentation on alerts and staying informed as it regards approaching storms, and Shreveport Police will present safe driving information.

There is still room available for persons interested in attending. Please call the COPB at 318-673-6950.

We would also like to invite meteorologists and reporters from all media outlets to join us. Many of our seniors rely on your stations to keep them informed and they would love to see those familiar faces and get weather advice from those of you that they know and trust. We hope to see you there.
