Man charged in aggravated assault with a firearm

Suspect Jackson Harris

Shreveport Police have charged a man in connection with his role in aggravated assault with a firearm after he allegedly pointed a gun at a pair of juveniles last month.

Back on September 18, 2018, Shreveport Police patrol officers were called to the 200 block of Gator Drive relative to a suspect who was driving a grey Toyota pickup truck and pointed a gun at two juveniles as they walked home. Information from the vehicle's license plate led authorities to the alleged suspect, identified as 18 year old Jackson Harris.

Working collectively with witnesses, police located and arrested Harris who has been charged with a single count of aggravated assault with a firearm. Following interviews with police, Harris was booked into the Shreveport City Jail.
