MAYOR ADRIAN PERKINS NAMES NEWS ANCHOR MARQUEL SENNET COMMUNICATIONS DIRECTOR

Mayor Adrian Perkins has selected Marquel Sennet to serve as the next Communications Director for the City of Shreveport. Sennet brings 13 years of experience as a broadcast journalist and TV news anchor to the position. She also serves as Chair of the Southern University Shreveport history department.

"We are excited to welcome Marquel to the team," said Mayor Adrian Perkins. "Marquel is a trusted face whose talent is matched only by her passion for the City of Shreveport."

Sennet comes from NBC 6 and KMSS Fox 33, where she worked as a reporter and news anchor.

"I am honored to join Mayor Adrian Perkins' team and work to improve the city I fell in love with 10 years ago," said Sennet. "Shreveport is a beautiful city that I am proud to call home, and the citizens can count on me to provide them with accurate and timely information."

Sennet replaces Benjamin Riggs, who resigned after two years as Communications Director to assume the same position with the Louisiana Democratic Party. She will begin her new role as Communications Director on February 9, 2021.
