The Shreveport Police Department's Sex Crimes Unit is actively searching for five individuals who have been convicted of sexual offenses and have failed to comply with their required registration.

- Robert Greer, 42, is wanted for his third offense of failure to register as a sex offender. Greer was convicted of forcible rape.
- Lynyrd Clark, 41, is wanted for one count of failure to register as a sex offender. Clark was convicted of voyeurism.

- Joseph Little, 45, is wanted for his second offense of failure to register as a sex offender. Little was convicted of aggravated rape.
- Kenya Watson, 47, is wanted for his fifth offense of failure to register as a sex offender. Watson was convicted of indecent behavior with a juvenile and has four prior convictions for failure to register as a sex offender.

All of these individuals are required by law to register and maintain their registration as sex offenders. Sex offender registration is crucial as it provides information about sex offenders in our communities and helps law enforcement monitor their locations and behavior.

Suspects are innocent until proven guilty.
