Shreveport Police Warn Against the Dangers of Fleeing from Officers

The Shreveport Police Department is urging the community to recognize the dangers of fleeing from law enforcement in a vehicle. This reckless behavior not only puts officers at risk but also endangers the lives of citizens and the public at large. Over the past weekend, SPD officers arrested several individuals for aggravated flight from an officer—an avoidable felony offense.

  - Arrested on November 22, 2024 for:
    - One count of Aggravated Flight from an Officer
    - Outstanding warrants
    - Simple battery
2. Marcellus Gay (DOB: 01/18/1972)
  - Arrested on November 22, 2024 for:
    - One count of Aggravated Flight from an Officer
    - Multiple traffic violations
3. Isaiah Houston (23 years old)
  - Arrested on November 23, 2024 for:
    - One count of Aggravated Flight from an Officer
    - Speeding

- Driving without a valid driver's license
- 4. Bobby Joyce (DOB: 06/29/2000)
  - Arrested on November 24, 2024 for:
    - One count of Aggravated Flight from an Officer
    - No driver's license
    - Illegal possession of a stolen vehicle
- 5. Willie Marr McDonald (DOB: 05/28/1978)
  - Arrested on November 25, 2024 for:
    - One count of Aggravated Flight from an Officer

Fleeing from law enforcement is a felony offense that can result in jail time and the potential loss of certain constitutional rights. Thankfully, no injuries were reported in these incidents; however, SPD stresses that these dangerous situations could have been avoided entirely through compliance during a traffic stop.

Public safety is our top priority, and fleeing from an officer is not only a crime but also a direct threat to everyone on the road. We urge citizens to think twice, and avoid unnecessary risks.” The SPD remains committed to ensuring public safety and addressing these incidents with the seriousness they deserve.
