Shreveport Police Identify Suspect in Weekend Mass Shooting

Rasson Smith Jr. - Rasson Smith Jr.

Detectives with the Shreveport Police Department's Homicide Unit have made significant progress in the investigation into last Saturday morning's mass shooting.

Through their ongoing efforts, investigators have identified one of the suspected shooters as Rasson Smith Jr. (B/M, DOB: 05/20/2004). An active warrant has been issued for Attempted Second-Degree Murder in connection with this case, and additional charges are likely as the investigation continues. (See attached photo)

Smith is a suspected gang member and is considered armed and dangerous. Based on multiple sources of information, detectives believe he has no hesitation in using a firearm. Locating him is a critical step in bringing resolution to this violent event.

Police believe additional suspects were involved, and further arrests and charges are expected as evidence develops. More information will be released as it becomes available.
