Arrest Update: Downtown Disturbance

This afternoon the Shreveport Police Department provides an update on the violent disturbance that occurred in our downtown area earlier this week.

Through the course of a targeted investigation — conducted jointly with Probation & Parole and multiple units within the department — investigators have located and arrested the individuals believed to be responsible for the downtown fight. The following people have been arrested and charged with one count of disturbing the peace by fighting:

- Aaron Small
- Iyauna Lockett
- Demarcus Eiland
- Jacorey Wesley
- Jada Brown

Additionally, Jacorey Wesley, Demarcus Eiland, and Aaron Small were on active probation at the time of the incident. Those three individuals are being held on a probation violation and are currently being held without bond pending further legal action.

“Make no mistake — we will not tolerate violence in our downtown,” said Chief Wayne Smith. “These five chose to bring fear and disorder to a place meant for families, businesses and visitors. Our detectives worked around the clock, with help from Probation & Parole and specialized units, to identify and locate those responsible. Where appropriate and consistent with policy, we will be transparent with the community about who brought this disruption to our streets. Those who commit crimes in Shreveport will face the full, lawful consequences of their actions.

The Shreveport Police Department thanks the members of the public who came forward with tips and video evidence — your cooperation was critical to moving this investigation forward. We also commend the officers and investigators whose professionalism and persistence produced these arrests.
