Shreveport Police Arrest Felon After Traffic Stop Turns Into Pursuit

Jason Spruell

Shreveport Police officers arrested Jason Spruell, an Oklahoma native, following a traffic stop on December 6, 2025, that escalated into a pursuit and assault on an officer.

The stop, initially for a seat belt violation, quickly turned into a felony when Spruell refused to comply with officers and led them on a pursuit through the city. During the incident, Spruell struck an officer before being taken into custody.

Spruell now faces multiple charges, including:

- Aggravated Flight from an Officer
- Battery of a Police Officer
- Resisting an Officer

The Shreveport Police Department reminds the public that running from law enforcement is dangerous and will result in swift legal consequences.
